

Human Resources Laws Update Conference 2024

Each year, South Africa's labour law shifts and evolves in interesting and complex ways. As labour law and HR practitioners, missing a change or misunderstanding the impact of a development could cost time, money or reputational harm.

Over two days, you will review cases that have recently been decided the courts. We will discuss how those decisions impact what employers need to be doing to conform with these decisions.

Designed for all labour relations, human resources professionals and attorneys, this training features superb faculty, important topics, and great peer networking opportunities.
