If you are the kind of person who always plays it safe and prefers to watch adrenaline junkies do their thing, you are in for a treat, because Le Grand Cirque Adrenaline, will definitely get that adrenaline pumping through your veins, just by watching. Be prepared to be blown away!

Le Grand Cirque Adrenaline, now playing at the Joburg Theatre, is taking audiences for the ride of their lives. It's not like anything you have seen before and it definitely isn't something you will soon forget. People always talk about that "once in a lifetime" kind of experience - and this is exactly what you will get. This show contains performances that are action packed, breathtaking and downright brilliant; it will have SA audiences talking about it till 2020.

Even though I am trying to describe what you can expect in the show, there is no way that I can prepare you for what you are going to witness.

Pushed to the limits on a very grand scale

It produces a stunning display of acrobatics, but pushed to the limits on a very grand scale. It is unlikely that anything like this has been seen before. The show has a sense of hypnotism, keeps your eyes on the stage and never stops you wondering what's next, from The Russian Swing to The Cloud Swing, The Wheel Of Destiny to the Globe Of Death and the barrel contortionists to the clowns. It is true magic.

I will not give away too much, but I will tell you that if you miss this show, you will surely regret it. Get the whole family and all of your friends and book your tickets for Le Grand Cirque de Adrenaline. Practise those screeches and oohs and aahs, and bring yourself a stress ball - you are in for the ride of your life.

The show is playing from Tuesday, 29 May to Sunday, 17 June, 2012. Tickets range from R190 to R350. Book your tickets here at www.joburgtheatre.com/show.asp
