Following the announcement, Al Jazeera Media Network's Acting Director General Dr Mostefa Souag said, "We are outraged that the verdict has been adjourned, as today was meant to be the final court hearing for our colleagues. We, along with others, expected a swift end to the ordeal for Baher Mohamed, Mohamed Fahmy and Peter Greste."

"All three men have been under immense stress and pressure for the past nineteen months and delaying the final verdict has just continued the strain on them and their families. We demand the Egyptian authorities end the charges, which should be dropped immediately. Journalism is not a crime."
