

Winchester Mansions entering a new chapter with refurbishment

Winchester Mansions, located along the Sea Point Promenade and known for its rich historic and iconic Cape Dutch architecture, has commenced with a refurbishment of its 76 bedrooms, including family and loft-style rooms as well as various suites.

Image Supplied

The rollout of the refurbishment will be conducted over three months, ensuring minimal interference to hotel guests' stay. The revamped rooms will be completed by November.

Each room is being styled by interior design company, Origin Interiors, according to four colour palettes, using the owner, Mrs Wainford's collection of classic artwork as a key focal point and inspiration for the new look.

Beth Murray, founder of Origin Interiors, comments: "Guests can look forward to the same classic, iconic and timeless feel of the hotel, with a new level of sophistication, luxury and vibrancy."

Murray Nell, managing director at Winchester Mansions, concludes: "Winchester Mansions is entering into a new chapter. We are building on our past successes and strengthening our legacy. We are confident of the hotel's favourable future, having invested in this opportunity for further growth."

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>