What is Salesforce

Salesforce is a customer relationship management (CRM) platform. It is cloud-based software that can help your business manage its interactions with customers, clients, and sales prospects. It provides tools for sales, customer service, marketing automation, analytics, and app development.

The idea behind Salesforce is to provide a single, centralized place for your company to manage all customer data and interactions, helping you improve your customer relationships and grow your business.

In 2008 12% of businesses used CRM software, today it has risen to 87%.

What is Salesforce Marketing Cloud

This popular feature of the Salesforce suite is a marketing automation platform that helps increase customer engagement, provides a personalised experience, and improves customer satisfaction.

Salesforce Marketing Cloud allows for:

- Real-time customer engagement
- Social media engagement, listening and advertising
- Email and marketing automation
- SMS messaging and push notifications
- WhatsApp messaging and push notifications
- Customer marketing analytics

Maintaining customer relationships is essential for any enterprise, and V5 Digital can help companies manage this aspect of their business.

With Salesforce Marketing Cloud, you can create targeted email and mobile campaigns, track customer interactions and get insights on campaign performance. Additionally, it offers integrations with other Salesforce products and third-party platforms, which means you can streamline your marketing efforts and improve customer experiences.

Salesforce Marketing Cloud users span many industries and company sizes and while it is mainly considered an enterprise-level platform, its different editions make it flexible enough for any organisation, including yours!

How can Salesforce benefit your business?

Other than the obvious benefit of getting a better ROI from your marketing efforts, the Salesforce platform is great for:

1. Increased productivity: Salesforce automates many manual processes, freeing up time for sales and customer service teams to focus on more high-value activities.
2. Better customer insights: Salesforce's centralized database provides a single view of customer interactions, enabling companies to make data-driven decisions.

3. Improved collaboration: Salesforce facilitates communication and collaboration between departments, helping companies to work more efficiently.
4. Customisation: Salesforce offers a wide range of customisation options, allowing companies to tailor the platform to their specific business needs.
5. Scalability: Salesforce is designed to grow with a company, allowing businesses to add users, features, and customisations as needed.
6. Better marketing campaigns: Salesforce uses segmentation, lead scoring, personalisation, automation, and analytics to create more effective campaigns with better targeting.

Which Salesforce features are popular with local businesses?

Local businesses find Salesforce Email and SMS Studios particularly useful. These tools can help you create and manage email and text message campaigns designed to wow your audience. They allow you to communicate with customers using the channels they find most convenient and help you track the performance of your campaigns in real-time.

Due to the popularity of the App, many African businesses love that Salesforce allows for the integration of WhatsApp. This partnership makes it easier than ever to send automated notifications, promote products and services and offer live support or after-sales services to your customers.

Salesforce makes it quick and easy for businesses to get up and running on WhatsApp

With Email and SMS Studios, you can:

- Build messages: You can use pre-designed templates or create your own messages from scratch using a drag-and-drop editor.
- Manage lists: You can import and manage email and text message lists, segment them based on specific criteria, and ensure that only the right people receive the right messages.
- Track results: You can track opens, clicks, and conversions from messages, and use this information to make data-driven decisions about future campaigns.
- Automate messages: You can automate the sending of messages based on specific triggers, such as a customer making a purchase or reaching a certain milestone.
- Collaborate: You can collaborate with team members on email and text message campaigns and get approval before sending messages to your customers.
