

BrandsEye addresses House of Lords Committee

BrandsEye has addressed a House of Lords Select Committee in the UK Parliament regarding political polling and digital media.

The company's CEO JP Kloppers told the committee that mining opinion on social media is a great supplement to traditional polling techniques.

BrandsEye has in the past accurately predicted the Brexit referendum and has recently opened an office in London.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>