

HAATBP - you're invited

NEW YORK, US: The One Club is inviting you to its celebrated multicultural creative career fair, Here Are All The Black People. HAATBP provides real solutions to the lack of diversity in advertising creative departments. This one-day event is supported by advertising agencies that recognise that they succeed when they have creatives from diverse backgrounds and experiences on their team. The event is open to students, professionals looking for a career change to the advertising industry and, of course, present industry creatives who are looking to give back, meet, engage with, and hire new, diverse talent.

Where: Metropolitan Pavilion in NYC

When: 24 September 2014
