

Anthonij Rupert Wyne turns out its cork

Anthonij Rupert Wyne, situated in the Franschhoek Wine Valley, has announced that its Protea wine range is now available with a helix closure.

The closure, a traditional cork with a user-friendly re-sealable closure, has a twist out cork created by Amorim and threaded bottleneck designed by Consol.

The wine range also introduces a unique packaging that has been designed with 'upcycling' in mind, encouraging re-use, and recycling.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>