

Loerie judges announced

The Loerie Awards judges have been announced and include four international judges: Jonathan Harries, EVP, WW creative director and chairman/CEO, Foote Cone & Beelding (advertising jury chair); Emmy van Gool, creative director, QuA Associates, Amsterdam (design jury chair); Duncan Gray, creative director, Proximity#http London (experiential jury chair); and remote judge, Nicke Bergström, creative director, Farfar, Stockholm, Sweden (experiential specialist panel: direct & promotional digital). Judging will take place from 14 - 18 August 2006 at the SABC in Auckland Park.

The Loerie Awards represents the pinnacle of creative communication media in Southern Africa, and entries will be judged according to five criteria:

1. An innovative concept, bringing new and fresh thinking.
2. Excellent execution.
3. Relevance to the brand.
4. Relevance to the target audience.
5. Relevance to the chosen medium.

Work that excels in all the above criteria - work that is judged to be effective communication by the jury - represents 'Creative Excellence', and will be rewarded with the highest accolade: a Loerie Award, at the annual creative awards showcase in Margate, 16 - 17 September 2006. The panel of South African and international industry leaders will have a formidable task in seeking out work that is bold and innovative, and that challenges convention.

Over 2800 entries were received in this year's annual Loeries. These are 20% down on the previous year, as was expected said The Loerie Awards CEO, Andrew Human, after the streamlining of categories and the awards criteria, which included no duplications of entries into other categories.

Entries are judged by specialist panels comprised of leaders in their fields. The advertising panel is endorsed by the Creative Circle, the official advertising body; the Design panel is endorsed by Think, the South African Graphic Design Council; and the Experiential category is comprised of experts representing direct, promotional, digital, non-broadcast and live events (Experiential Digital, and Non-broadcast & Live Events will be judged by sub-panels within the category).

Finalists will be announced as soon as the results are available at the end of the judging week. Bronze, Silver, Gold and Grand Prix winners will be announced at the Gala Event on the 16th and 17th of September in Margate.
