

"Set a thief..."

Tony Sales, alleged to have stolen upwards of half a billion Rand from retailers over a six-year period and one of the world's foremost criminal minds, will take retailers undercover into the world of retail crime with a no-holds barred presentation at 'Retail Fraud - Cape Town' and show how security systems are being picked apart by organised criminal gangs. Sales will show just how fast it is done and just how many millions of Rand it costs retailers daily.

Sales works internationally with some of the biggest retailers on the planet, as poacher turned gamekeeper, to help them fight organised crime in a way that has never previously been possible. His presentation is set to be an unforgettable experience and has been described as one that will utterly amaze, terrify and empower.

His is one of the presentations at the first 'Retail Fraud - Cape Town' on at the Radisson Blu Hotel Waterfront, Cape Town on 12 March 2015. The workshop, sponsored by Swiss manufacturers of Electronic Article Surveillance (EAS) equipment Agon Systems, is for the retail risk and loss prevention community. It will be filled with high calibre executives, decision makers, speakers, influencers, academics and vendors.
