The African Real Estate Summit will host an investor-led conference where international investors will be able to review a showcase of existing assets, new commercial real estate and planned city developments whilst comparing projected capital returns and rental yields. This will be supported by a deal-making exhibition hub with a 3D showcase of the African cities of tomorrow by town planners, city officials and developers from across the continent.

“There is a real need amongst African cities to showcase their development plans and meet and network with investors and expert developers in the commercial real estate sector. The African Real Estate Summit provides this long overdue opportunity.” ~ Rehana Boolay, Investment Promotions Manager, WESGRO

This transactional deal-making hub is aimed at providing an opportunity for investors, developers, landowners and the cities themselves to conduct business, sign contracts and develop the future cities of Africa.
