Now, more than ever, South Africa needs new stories of success in the area of relationship building. In his dynamic presentation, Alex van den Heever tackles issues of trust, conflict and polarisation in corporate and social South Africa.

Now hear the true story of how two South Africans, from different points of experience and reference, became committed working colleagues.

The transforming nature of true friendship is beyond dispute; everyone has their own personal experiences and has enjoyed the rewards of committed friendships.

But what of the relationships that develop between colleagues? Can these be as powerful as spontaneously formed friendships? Can healthy interpersonal relationships in the corporate environment lead to greater levels of personal and financial fulfillment?

The answer is a resounding 'Yes', says inspirational speaker, Alex van den Heever. In his presentation The Power of Relationships he provides the keys to unlock this latent potential in working relationships.

In the corporate environment, a veritable melting pot of different cultures, individuals are required to not just work together but to achieve a harmony that ensures the client experience and ultimately the success of the company.

With humour, sensitivity and surprising humility Alex demolishes the walls that isolate each one of us. He tells the story of his own path to abundance; it's a tale of extremes, white and black, man and boy, apartheid and unity, emerging world and developed world. Alex uses the real life story of his life as a game ranger at Londolozi Private Game Reserve and his relationship with tracker Renias Mhlongo to convey transformational wisdom and insights.

Alex is a new generation of South African speaker, ultimately personable but capable of utterly breaking down cultural barriers in the work place and fostering a generosity of spirit amongst team players. It's not a methodology he offers but rather an ability to inspire the audience and open their minds to their potential as individuals and as a team.

Relationships are universal - "The Power of Relationships" captures the essential ingredients, the intangibles and the essence of relationships - David Varty, Londolozi Game Reserve
