

Revamped Relais Hotels website

Relais Hotels, the boutique hotel group operating exclusive luxury suites, city hotels and country retreats has redesigned its website, recognising the importance of online reservations.

John Watson, executive director said: "With the Internet becoming such an integral part of online reservations, it was imperative that we revamped our website to give it a new look and encourage increased booking potential."

Tessa Colussi, group marketing manager added: "With technology advancing at such a rapid pace, it is extremely important to remain ahead of the game by offering a state-of-the-art website that is practical, functional and user-friendly. We are confident that our new website delivers this service to our clients."

To view the website, go to www.relaishotels.com.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>