

Thungela signs three-year wage deal

By Nelson Banya

20 Sep 2022

South Africa's coal exporter Thungela Resources on Tuesday said it had signed a three-year wage agreement with the National Union of Mineworkers (NUM).

Image source: Christos Georghiou – 123RF.com

"The wage agreement increases salary and salary-related allowances and is expected to increase the total labour cost-to-company, on average by approximately 6% per annum over the three-year period," Thungela said in a statement.

The company said the wage deal with NUM, which represents 86% of Thungela's workforce, was effective from June 1 through to May 2025.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Reporting by Nelson Banya; Editing by Kirsten Donovan

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>