MyBroadband Underground - The must-attend tech conference for IT professionals

Issued by Broad Media   26 Jun 2017

The inaugural MyBroadband Underground event, in partnership with SqwidNet, will take place at The Venue in Melrose Arch on 22 August 2017.

MyBroadband Underground is an exclusive technical conference, aimed at IT executives and IT professionals in South Africa.

The first event will feature the country's foremost experts in artificial intelligence, blockchain technology, the Internet of Things, fibre broadband, mobile tech, information security, and cloud computing.

Speakers include SqwidNet CEO Reshaad Sha, SensePost CTO Dominic White, Cybersmart CTO Laurie Fialkov, NWU research professor Etienne Barnard, Vodacom head of innovation Jannie van Zyl, and Bankymoon CEO Lorien Gamaroff.

The speakers are experts in their fields, and the content will be of a more technical nature than general IT conferences.

The MyBroadband Underground conference is limited to 150 seats.
