

Sylvester Chauke announced as member of steering committee for the Global Shapers Communities

Chief architect of award-winning brand consultancy, DNA Brand Architects, Sylvester Chauke, has been announced as one of the 22 members from across the globe to make up the steering committee for the World Economic Forum's Global Shapers Community and its advisory council - Chauke previously served as both global shaper and curator for the World Economic Forum's Johannesburg office.

The nomination comes after Chauke won The Golden European Award for 2017, and the European Quality Award for business innovation and leadership, in London and Berlin respectively.
