

Stone Soup makes two new appointments

Stone Soup Public Relations has appointed Lisa Johnston as its account director and Tsungai Desando as its account manager.

Johnston has over 20 years' work experience that covers print and digital in the media and commercial sectors.

Desando has academic training in public relations, journalism and audio visual communications.

Both new appointees will be responsible for driving content creation, communication strategies, media liaison and handling events on behalf of clients.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>