About #PAMRO2019

This year PAMRO celebrates its 20th anniversary, that's 20 years of research experts from across Africa and the rest of the world coming together to exchange knowledge and to learn from one-another's successes and failures, with the ultimate goal of harmonising research methodologies and encouraging excellence in the industry.

#PAMRO 2019 will explore the theme: Investing in research, investing in brands, investing in Africa.

In line with this, PAMRO invites individuals or institutions interested in presenting findings from media audience research activities and/or relevant case studies.

Papers on measurement innovation, research-on-research and best practice from professionals in the field of media research will be vetted according to their relevance to the industry. Although case studies are welcome they need to convey findings that are of value to the broader research community.

Only papers sent to PAMRO Executive Director, Jennifer Daniel (jdaniel@pamro.org) before 14 June 2019 will be considered.
