

Earth Probiotic launches new composting bag

African food waste recycling company, Earth Probiotic, has launched a new product for the domestic market: a bag which recycles organic material into compost. Made from upcycled billboard material, the bag is manufactured by Waste-to-Wow, a non-profit company with the specific objective of creating employment amongst black South African women. For more information, go to <http://waste2wow.co.za>.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>