

Dariel Software names Joshua Mills as its talent management leader

The rapid growth and expansion of Dariel Software's operations in Gauteng and the Western Cape has led to the appointment of Joshua Mills as a dedicated talent manager to help the company attract and retain the best skills in the ICT sector.

The role of a talent manager has become pivotal in companies such as Dariel which is focused on employee growth and development. Mills sees his job as helping drive this process throughout the organisation and to assist employees in staying on a growth trajectory, to better not only themselves but the organisation as a whole.
