

More than 35 brewers to participate in Capital Craft Beer Festival

The fifth Capital Craft Beer Festival is set for Saturday, 10 June, at the Pretoria Botanical Garden. The festival will host over 35 brewers and will feature ample entertainment.

What to expect

- Three music stages
- Over 35 brewers
- Over 200 beers on tap
- Over 30 food stalls
- Educational stalls
- Drinks for non-beer drinkers
- Non-alcoholic drinks
- Safe parking

Tickets

Tickets cost between R165-R200 and includes a branded mug and a venue/brewer layout map. Tickets are available at Capital Craft Menlo Park, Capital Craft Centurion and online at Plankton.mobi.

The Capital Craft Beer Festival runs on a token system. You buy tokens and then use the tokens to buy beer or food. You can buy tokens online at Plankton.mobi or at the festival. Note that all left over tokens can be spent at Capital Craft Menlo and Capital Craft Centurion for two weeks after the festival.

Rugby

For those not going to Loftus to watch South Africa vs France, Capital Craft Menlo and Capital Craft Centurion will be airing the game and you will be able to spend your leftover tokens at both restaurants.
