Turkish Airlines load factor reaches 80.2% high in December 2018

Turkish Airlines has recorded a load factor of 80.2% for December 2018. The total number of passengers carried in December 2018 went up by 1% reaching 5.5 million passengers.

During January-December 2018, 75.2 million passengers flew Turkish Airlines, an increase of 10% from 2017.

Turkish Airlines' total load factor improved by three points up to 82%, while the international load factor total increased by three points reaching 81%, with the domestic load factor rising by 1 point reaching 85%.

Cargo and mail volumes also improved – up 25% and reaching 1.4 million tonnes.

For more, visit: https://www.bizcommunity.com