

MSC South Africa appoints Ross Volk as MD

Ross Volk has been appointed as the new MD of MSC South Africa. Volk served as CFO of the South African operations over the last 14 months and will be tasked with growing the business commercially in South Africa.

MSC South Africa has also appointed Geneva-based Angelo Cupurro as senior director, who will be tasked with focusing on expanding plans for South Africa going forward for both local and international MSC products.

MSC Cruises CEO's, Daphne Osborne and Allan Foggit who announced their retirement a few months ago, will remain outside of the business in a consulting capacity for an interim period.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>