

New headquarters for Rubicon in Cape Town

Construction on a new 9,300sqm distribution and office facility for sustainable technology company, Rubicon, in Richmond Park, Milnerton, Cape Town begins in November this year.

Source: Supplied

Rubicon will combine its operations, currently spread across six different locations in the Mother City, into one tailor-made multi-million rand facility that includes a 7,900sqm warehouse and 1,400sqm of offices incorporating a 250sqm showroom.

“We are pleased to partner with Rubicon in consolidating and centralising its operations in such a prominent position. It is a pleasure working with this innovative company for the development of its new headquarters to support its continued growth in South Africa,” says Mia Kitshoff, leasing manager, Western Cape, for Atterbury, the company developing the site for Rubicon.

The new facility also provides the necessary flexibility to accommodate Rubicon’s future growth with 1,200sqm of expansion potential and additional parking capacity to match.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>