The Gibbs Entrepreneurship Development Academy is recruiting 50 South African women entrepreneurs for the Cherie Blair Foundation for Women's intensive, seven-week business growth programme!

Are you a woman entrepreneur that would like to take your business to the next level? Then amplify your business on its journey to success by applying for the Road to Growth programme. The intensive, seven-week business management training programme will be brought to South Africa once again, building on the 4,300 women it has supported so far worldwide.

Delivered by the Gibbs Entrepreneurship Development Academy (EDA), Road to Growth will offer a select group of 50 established women-owned and -run businesses with the opportunity to progress as business owners by building business skills, financial literacy, networks, and confidence. Starting in August and free of charge to participants, the programme represents a game changer in women's entrepreneurial journeys so their businesses can thrive.

“ The programme has equipped me with the right tools to move my business forward. ”

– Tshegofatso Dolo from Flame Creations Beauty and Health Spa

Road to Growth training will be delivered primarily online using a unique, custom-built learning platform alongside in person class. Selected participants will progress through Road to Growth by building and developing their business growth plan each week to achieve a clear vision and direction for their business. Each of the programme's seven weeks covers a new topic, including contextualising and understanding your market, digital marketing and communication, and your finances from building capital to managing financial relationships.

The Cherie Blair Foundation for Women's Road to Growth programme is currently also running in Nigeria, Kenya, and Guyana, and has previously run in Mexico, Vietnam, and Indonesia. It's proven a highly successful model, enhancing business knowledge and confidence, creating growth, developing networks, and increasing women entrepreneurs' preparedness to access to finance. Over 96% of participants in 2022 have reported that they have grown their networks through the programme and 100% gone on to implement improved business practices.

Businesswoman Tshegofatso Dolo from Flame Creations Beauty and Health Spa participated in Road to Growth in the 2022 cohort. Dolo commended the programme for its holistic approach to fundamental business practice. “The programme has equipped me with the right tools to move my business forward. It has also inspired me to go out and empower other women to formalise and expand their businesses to create employment.”
