

#BeautifulNews: A barista pays homage to Hillbrow's hustling spirit

Tebogo Mabye was dreaming of success, even while living on the streets. His hometown, Hillbrow, is synonymous with poverty, crime, and constant police sirens – but also a community who refuses to give up. “There is a hustling spirit,” Mabye says. Though he wasn’t ashamed of being raised in shelters, Mabye wanted more out of life.

Read Tebogo Mabye's full story here.

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>