

Syracuse International Film Festival call for SA entries

Now in its fourth year, the Syracuse International Film and Video Festival is looking for South African projects to expand its globally diverse 2007 Festival Competition. The competitive categories are for full length, short and documentary projects completed after January 2005. Entry and submissions are free. For more information on how to enter, email .

For more, visit: <https://www.bizcommunity.com>